PACIFIC AIR RACE IS ON

Suspect Alliance At Geneva Parley, Britain And Japan

Japanese Delegates Supporting British Moves Hints At Alliance

WASHINGTON IS WATCHING CLOSELY

Surprising About-Face By Japanese Follows Extended Conference

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Great Britain's aggressive attitude at the tri-partite naval conference—and the fact that Japan is supporting her in that attitude—has led Washington officialdom to strongly suspect that the far-famed Anglo-Japanese alliance is being resurrected at Geneva.

This alliance, a prickly thorn in British-American relations for many years, was supposedly killed and buried at the Washington conference in 1921 by Charles Evans Hughes. It was to secure the abrogation of this anti-American partnership that the American government departed from its traditional policy of "no alliances" and entered into a treaty with England, Japan and France for the mutual protection of each other's possessions and interests in the Pacific.

Alliance Dead Six Years.

For six years the Anglo-Japanese alliance has apparently remained dead. But the sequence of events at Geneva for the past ten days has about convinced officials here that it is emerging from its grave to again confound American statesmanship.

First, Great Britain has virtually renounced the naval parity with the United States, which she so eagerly accepted at Washington. She insists at Geneva that "Britain's control of the seas is vital to Britain's continued existence", while the first lord of the admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman, bluntly informed the American delegates that "naval equality for America is simply a luxury and a political by-play."

Second, in the all-important matter of cruisers and auxiliary fighting craft, Britain has refused to concede to the United States an equality in tonnage and armament.

Third, the British delegates have insisted upon reopening the question of capital ship tonnage, established by the Washington treaty. This amounts, virtually to attempt to revise that treaty and recall the equality she so eagerly accepted at a time

Airplane Strikes Tree In Takeoff, Youth's Leg Broken

(International News Service)
POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 28.—Roy Hackmon of Minersville was suffering from a broken leg today due to an airplane accident last night the second in a few days in this vicinity.

Hackman and Peter Leycheck of Primrose, near here, where the plane crash occurred were passengers in a plane piloted by Albert Carr of Shamokin.

The plane struck a tree in the flying field on the take-off Carr declared and turned over. Carr and Leycheck jumped from the plane and escaped with only a few scratches.

Will Rogers May Yet "Get in On" Byrd Expedition

(Special To The News)

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky, the popular movie stars were married in one of my churches in Beverley Sunday.

Sam Goldwyn, producer of the wedding, called me up and said he thought it would be a good publicity idea to hold it in a church.

I said: "What denomination, Sam?"

He replied "Oh, any kind just so it has a steeple high enough to pick up in the picture."

The novelty everybody experienced in the church was the big kick of the wedding.

WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—I knew I would get in somehow on these trans-Atlantic flights. I just today booked my grand-grandson to go over with Commander Byrd.

CARNEGIE STEEL CO. EXPENDS LARGE SUM IMPROVING FURNACE

Big improvements costing several thousand dollars are in progress at the present time at No. 4 furnace of the New Castle works of the Carnegie Steel company which will not only make it one of the most modern furnaces of the steel corporation but will also increase its capacity.

The stack is being rebuilt and enlarged and the furnace is being equipped with electrical automotic equipment that will not only make the handling of its product easier, but on a more economical basis.

The capacity of the furnace previous to its remodeling was 450 tons of iron. It will be increased approximately 50 per cent.

One of the features of the change being made is the installation of an automatic electric distributor device at the top of the stack which in contrast with the former filling device of the furnace, distributes the materials at various points in the stack instead of dumping them all at the same point. This enables the production of more and better iron because the ingredients are thoroughly distributed.

The improvement will be completed in the near future and will mean the resumption of the furnace which has been down several months.

Grace Speeds Up Plan For Flight

Aviator Hopes To Take Off From Honolulu On Wednesday

PLANE ABOUT READY FOR PACIFIC HOP

By JOHN F. STONE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HONOLULU, June 28.—Fearful of losing out in the race to be first to span the Pacific by air, Richard Grace, the "aviator with a broken neck", and so-called navy entrant, today speeded up arrangements for his proposed Hawaii-to-the-mainland flight. Grace hopes to take off tomorrow morning.

With the exception of a new propellor, Grace's plane was all set today. A propellor, shipped aboard the liner Maui, will arrive in Hawaiian waters today and will be carried to Pearl Harbor by seaplane.

To Install Propellor

At Pearl Harbor mechanicians will install the propellor and make a final, hasty inspection of Grace's monoplane. The flyer will then pilot his plane to the island of Kauai, whence he will zoom away for California.

Mechanics worked all night, tightening struts, nuts and making a thorough survey of the plane. Grace's ship, although smaller, is of the same general type as Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis".

Using a borrowed propellor, Grace made a test flight late yesterday, flying over Ford Island and Pearl Harbor for half an hour. The aviator was not quite satisfied with the speed shown by his machine, but expects installation of the regular propellor to help remedy this defect.

Grace, like Lindbergh, will have difficulty in seeing straight ahead. By standing erect he can peep over the top of the cockpit, but for the most part he will rely upon vision through side windows.

Grace will vary his altitude in accordance with the wind and weather, he stated today.

Olsen Company Secures Award

Will Use Concrete On Beckford Street, Maryland, Winslow Avenues

City Engineer Frank Miller during Tuesday's session of council reported that the Victor Olsen Contracting company had submitted the low bids for paving sections of Beckford street, Winslow and Maryland avenues, but instead of accepting his recommendation that brick be used, council awarded the Olsen company the contract for concrete. Their low bid was $42,687.10.

According to Councilman Louis Genkinger the property-owners who will pay the large portion, desire a concrete paving.

On the face of the bids opened Monday, Olsen's bid on brick was low and Burns Bros., low on concrete.

City Engineer Miller checked the bids and discovered errors in both bids, and declared Olsen company had presented the lowest prices.

Dry Enforcement Policy To Remain Same In District

Pennington Says Policy In Western Pennsylvania Not To Be Changed

DISCUSS "SMALL" LAW VIOLATORS

Some Belief Exists That Hip-Pocket Violators Will Get By

By ROBERT W. GINSBURG,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, June 28—There will be no change in policy in the Western Pennsylvania prohibition enforcement division despite the numerous changes in personnel and policies at Washington, John D. Pennington, director, told International News Service today.

At least no changes will be made until specific orders to do so are received here, Pennington intimated.

Since taking over the task of mopping up Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and part of Maryland, Pennington has made his biggest enforcement fight against the sources of bootleg liquor, rather than against the "little fellow."

Scout Change

Recent newspaper accounts from Washington intimated this policy, established by Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, would go by the board along with numerous others, including relative imunity to hip-flask carriers.

Around the prohibition headquarters here, it was believed that organized federal supervision of hip pockets would never make its appearance.

One federal agent virtually admitted it would require one federal officer to every thousand population, if hip pockets were to be scrutinized. This would require a veritable army of men, it was pointed out.

Some expressed the opinion it would be foolish and a vain effort, to attempt to regulate the "little violator."

However, federal agents occasionally do swoop down on a group of small violators, it was shown, but these usually are turned over to the county courts for disposal, rather than the federal institutions.

There is a feeling among many of the federal men that the United States courts are already overcrowded with the cases of big violators, to bring the "small fry" before the government's bar would further clog the wheels of justice.

King Missing In Pittsburgh May Be Foul Play Victim

Recently Resigned Leader Of Citizens League Is Reported Missing.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 28.—William L. King, director of the Citizen's League here, who had been leading an anti-vice crusade was reported missing at his office today and his associates expressed the belief that he was a victim of foul play.

Simultaneously with King's disappearance a local newspaper received a letter purported to bear his signature which announced his resignation from the league. The letter claimed that King resigned when he "learned the true purposes of the league" and that directors of the organization were attempting to inject religion and politics into its activities.

League headquarters claimed the letter did not come from King, but was written by someone else. League investigators immediately started a search for the missing director who practiced law in Kansas City and Des Moines before coming here six months ago.

King's hotel reported that he did not return to his room last night, but that he is still registered.

See Comet Last Night? Well! Neither Did We!

All of you amateur astronomers who saw the Pons-Winnecke comet last night raise your right hand! Nary a hand.

All of you who tried to see it raise your left hand. Plenty of hands this time.

Many Lawrence County star gazers made an attempt last night to see this celestial roamer which is sweeping through the skies just now, but thus far no one has reported seeing it. And not much wonder for it is 3,500,000 miles away and going south at the rate of eighteen miles per second. Just what kind of gas and oil it is using has not been determined.

The Pons-Winnecke comet will be seen, if you have a strong enough glass, until about July 4. It is so far removed from the earth that it is difficult and probably only those who know a comet when they see one will be able to recognize it.

Those who have seen it report that the comet has no tail, which is hardly a fair break for any comet that expects any space in a newspaper should have a tail.

If you want to try a look at it tonight look on the southeastern horizon of the sky and if you see what appears to be a handful of snowflakes, you've seen the Pons-Winnecke comet.

FOOD TAKEN ON PACIFIC FLIGHT

(International News Service)

OAKLAND AIRPORT, Calif., June 28.—When Lieutenants Lester Maitland and Albert Hegenberger hopped off from Oakland today bound for Hawaii, they carried with them as food supply the following:.

A quantity of chocolate in cake form; two dozen pilot's biscuits, a form of hardtack, 36 malted milk tablets, six cans of Army canned "Beef Willy" and four bottles of water.

STATE TOURIST MAPS WILL SOON BE AVAILABLE

Ben Franklin Highway Through New Castle Will Be Designated.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 28.—Copies of the new tourist maps of Pennsylvania highways will be available in about 10 days, John C. Dight, director of publications, said today. One hundred thousand copies of the map were being printed.

Several recently designated highways will be included in the new map. Both the Benjamin Franklin highway and the Buffalo-Pittsburgh road will appear in the new issue.

Highways included in the omnibus road bill passed by the 1925 legislature and taken over July 1, 1926, will also appear in the new map.

Contracts have been awarded for the printing of 200,000 copies of the yearly tourist guide. The issue this year will be known as "Pennsylvania Highway".

Probe Attempt To Rob Plant

Officers were called to the chemical department of the Johnson Bronze company on South Mill street, to investigate an alleged attempt to rob the place of materiials. A number of boys are under suspicion and are said to have informed the police that they were seeking materials with which to make explosives for the fourth of July.

Snake Stories Now In Season

This East Brook snake which is supposed to be fifteen feet long and as thick as a man's leg started the old timers reminiscing on snake stories of other years.

Thomas Kennedy of the Butler Road refused to be perturbed when he heard the reports of it. "'S nothing at all," he said as he was swishing a bucket of paint on a new bridge out on George Weingartner's ranch on the Butler Road. "'S nothing at all. Now that snake that used be out on the Slippery Rock was a real snake. That was thirty feet long, as thick as a man's body and barked like a calf."

All of which sounds like a real snake story. But it had the advantage of being seen in the days when a shooper cost a nickel.

Fails To Convince Court With Story

Theodore Melvin, colored, was sentenced this morning by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, the case being continued from Monday's sentence court. The man had pleaded to a charge of possession of liquor and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and four months in the county jail.

Melvin's story was that he had "found" a gallon can of moonshine in an alley on Moravia Street. He had "jest picked it up Judge, when the law came down the alley and befo' I had a chance to look inside it they pinched me."

Melvin insisted that he had found the liquor, although the judge asked him to come through with the truth of it. Just as a reminder the judge gave him four months.

Man, On Streets Daily, For Years Has Never Seen An Auto Nor Any Modern Inventions; Gives His Ideas

Living in New Castle for fifty years, and travelling the streets of this city for the greater part of them, almost every day, and spending much of the time in the business district, and yet never to have seen an automobile, airplane, or any of the modern day commonplaces, seems rather an impossibility, yet a News man found yesterday that such is the case.

Most every resident of the city is acquainted with Charles W. Thomas, blind man, who plays his organ on the sidewalks of the city, almost daily. The reporter stopped and inquired of Thomas as to his idea of the auto, and other modern inventions, realizing that Thomas has been blind for thirty years, and could have no accurate knowledge of them, except the conception in his mind.

Thomas in describing what an auto must look like says that it must be much like a wagon but with much lower wheels with wooden spokes and hubs and a rubber tire filled with air. He says that he has tried to form an opinion of what they are like by feeling them but that he has never been able to find out what the front part of the car is like being afraid of being burned or injured by the engine since he got his hand scorched by placing it on the radiator.

When asked what different makes of cars he knew of he spoke of the Ford, Touring Car, Chevrolet. He spoke of the Touring Car as though it was the name of a make of car rather than the kind of car of different makes. He was quite surprised to learn that in a few minutes nearly a hundred cars had passed by in front of him on Washington street. He said that he is "scared" to ride in an auto since he was in an accident last year in which his housekeeper, Mrs. Hess was killed.

Thomas' idea of an airplane was very vague, never having seen or touched one, he has to depend upon what others told him. His description was chiefly wings like a pigeon

BIG ARMY PLANE HOPS OFF ON LONG FLIGHT TO HAWAII

Other Planes May Join Race To Span Pacific Yet Today

ARMY PLANE LOST TO VIEW IN FOG

Immense Crowd Witnesses Take-Off On Epochal Pacific Hop

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

OAKLAND MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Cal., June 28.—Ernest Smith, civilian entry in the Hawaiian flight was forced to return here today at 9:45, eight minutes after he had taken off for Hawaii. Motor trouble was believed to have caused his return.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Cal., June 28.—Off to a beautiful start, the giant tri-motored Fokker army plane, carrying Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert F. Hegenberger, roared out over the Pacific today—first to go in what is expected to be the greatest aerial race of history.

Taking off in a fashion that exceeded the expectations of the sponsors of the flight, the huge army eagle left the end of the runway at 7:10 a. m., and 15 minutes later was lost sight of in the haze beyond the Golden Gate.

Lieuts. Maitland and Hegenberger, pilot and navigator of the big plane hoped to make Hawaii within 30 hours. Favorable winds may reduce this to 24 hours but the aviators expected the flight to take probably 27 hours.

Meanwhile Ernest Smith, air mail pilot and civilian entry in the race, champed at the bit, so to speak, as his backers ordered a wait of an hour and a half before he took off.

Smith Eager to Go

"No, now", Smith snapped back at E. J. Moffett, flight manager. Smith climbed in and out of his plane impatiently as a hurried effort was made to secure a new altimeter for his plane.

"Sandy" Sanders, a pal of Smith, and his companion flyer in air mail service, was on his way to Crissey field, San Francisco, for the needed altimeter. Smith will not take off, it was declared, until the low-gauge altimeter is installed in his plane.

John D. Durham presented Smith with a horseshoe. Smith took it solemnly, spat upon it, and tossed it over his shoulder.

"It's too heavy, John, I'm sorry", Smith apologized. "I can't take it with me."

Will Call Halt On Throwing Cans Into Public Roads

Union Township Supervisors To Put Stop To Practice In District.

After vainly endeavoring to get the residents of the Oakland District to cease throwing cans about their yards and into the gutters of the roadways, the Board of Supervisors of Union Township has determined to take sterner measures and will prosecute anybody doing so in the future.

The board is composed of J. D. Phillips, president; F. E. McCreary, secretary and C. L. Bentley. Union township is a large township and the board feels that it has enough to do in carrying on the regular duties imposed without having to act as a sort of glorified janitors.

Cans have been thrown into the ditches, sewers have been clogged up and the supervisors have been put to much needless work and expense. In the future they intend to prosecute any person who is found throwing cans or debris about.

I'm not a Presbyterian, nor was I ever so, though there are times this is the church you'll find to which I go. But though I am not of their church, I'm part of them today, they've asked me out to eat with them, and also out to play. They have a party billed today out on the field club links, and well I know these Presbyters can not be classed as sphinx. For when they dub a mashie shot, or top a brassie lie, the birdies stop and listen as they wing their passage by. And when they miss a short approach they do not say tut tut, and how those boys can paw the air, when e'er they miss a putt. But anyway today's the day, they golf and eat and such, the weather's eighty four at noon, and chilly, well not much.

Boro Building Being Moved

South New Castle Boro Municipal Quarters Being Improved

The South New Castle Boro Municipal building located at the corner of Moorehead and Hanna streets is being moved 12 to 15 feet farther toward the street to make room for additional equipment.

A basement will be provided under the building where the boro's new truck and road scraper, a tractor and a plow can be kept. To make a driveway into the basement it was necessary to move the building forward. The boro will haul its own ashes now since it has a truck of its own.

The front room over the basement will be the election room and a place where the fire fighting apparatus can be kept.

In the rear room will be the council and the justice of the peace's room.

Members of the boro council are asking for donated labor for the moving work.

Japan's delegates at Geneva at first supported the American delegation in refusing to consider the reopening of the Washington treaty. Then, suddenly, and after consulting with Tokio, the Japanese delegates blandly announced they believed there was something in Britain's proposal after all, and that Japan was willing to discuss the question of capital ships.

This surprising about-face on the part of Japan's delegates followed a series of extended conferences between the British and the Japanese at which it is understood some important questions concerning China also were discussed.

Thomas says that he does not have any one to explain things to him like Mrs. Hess did before her death and he takes his meals in a restaurant and has a boy or girl help him to and from the street car and to his home on Sheep's Hill. He wishes he might obtain an elderly woman to keep house for him.

When coins are dropped into his cup, Thomas is able to tell at once by the feel what kind of a coin it is. But he is not able to tell by the feel what denomination paper money is. He says that he is not bothered with distinguishing ones from fives and tens except at Christmas time a few bills find their way into the cup.

Less and less he says he hears horses going past on the street. He is not able to tell by the sound what kind of a person goes by in the crowd or pauses to drop a coin in his cup. Some walk heavier than others is the only difference he notices. He says that since the time he could see that styles of dresses have changed very much as far as he can learn from the descriptions of others. The chief change he said is that skirts have gone from the ground to the ankles to the knees. Also that hair is almost bobbed, some short and some longer according to those that he has touched.

an altimeter of the required type.

"I don't want this used unless it is used in your plane", the anonymous donor of the instrument declared. Moffett, Smith and the man with the altimeter then stepped inside Smith's private tent for a conference.

Crissey field reported at this juncture that they had no altimeter to give the civilian flyer.

First to Start

OAKLAND MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Cal., June 28.—On their way to new triumphs, and taking the honor of being the first to start the race to bridge the Pacific between California and Hawaii, the giant army monoplane started its take-off here today at 7:08 a. m.

Down the fairway went the big plane. A big cloud of dust blew up behind. A crowd of 5,000 went wild and roared in excitement.

The big plane taxied a little more than a mile down the runway and then rose gracefully from the field to a beautiful take-off half a minute later.

The Fokker headed over the island city of Alameda, crossing the Oakland estuary on its long flight toward Hawaii.

They then turned west and soon faded to a speck in the sky.

"My last words to those two brave army boys", said Maj. Gen. Patrick, "were 'God bless you both, and may you get there well and safe'."

A fog over the bay impeded visibility.

Two planes escorted the Fokker, one going on each side of the army entrant.

Ernest Smith, air mail pilot and civilian entry in the race, immediately ordered his plane to get set for an immediate take-off. The civilian flyer planned to hop off in pursuit of the big Fokker within 20 minutes.

The Fokker, before disappearing in the haze, reached an altitude of 6,000 feet. Five planes from Crissey field flew 3,000 feet below.

Other pursuit planes formed a personal escort to the Fokker, flying on the same 6,000-foot level.

His health has been bad for some time and it was thought best to have a guardian for him to handle his interests.

A considerable delegation of the Lawrence County Public Health Association, headed by Dr. H. C. Harper, medical director of the county, are planning to attend the convention of the county public health associations of western Pennsylvania, to be held at Hotel Conneaut at Conneaut Lake Wednesday, June 29.

Health associations of neighboring counties will be represented, including the counties of Lawrence, Mercer, Butler, Armstrong, Venango, Crawford and Erie counties.

Dr. Harper urges all members of the Lawrence County Health Association and others interested in public health and sanitary conditions to attend the meeting. Name Committee On City Program For Improvements

Chamber Of Commerce Makes Selection Of Men For Committee.

The public improvement committee which our city council requested at their meeting held on Friday, June 17, that the Chamber of Commerce have appointed to make a study of needed public improvements out of which study may come a definite program to be worked on in the future, has now been named.

The appointing of this committee has been delayed by the presidents of several of the civic clubs being out of the city. This committee now consists of the following representatives: to represent the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, D. S. Pyle, chairman, R. J. Tully and G. T. Weingartner. New Castle Better Business Bureau: Wm. E. Gordon, chairman, W. J. Offutt, G. E. Elwell . New Castle Rotary Club: Robert McKinney, chairman, Ira M. Ramsey, Lee McFate. Kiwanis Club: W. F. Moody, chairman, Thomas W. Dickey and James K. Love. Lions Club: Max Ludwig, chairman, Dr. T. M. Shaffer and John M. Bevan.

As the work of this committee will be very similar in nature to the work of the Joint Traffic Committee, the appointment of which was requested by Hon. Wm. H. Dunlap, mayor of the city of New Castle several months ago and in as much as a number of the men now serving on the joint traffic committee have been requested to serve on the public improvement committee, it is hoped that these two committees may work jointly on the problems of our city.

The joint traffic committee requested by Hon. Wm. H. Dunlap several months ago now consists of Mayor Dunlap, Earl T. Ramsey, E. L. Stitzinger, Arthur J. Rees as representatives from the Lions club, from the Chamber of Commerce: J. W. Pattison, Henry M. Goldberg and J. E. Elliott. From the Rotary club: Wm. J. Offutt, Scott Paisley, T. A. Gilkey and H. K. Gregory. From the Kiwanis club: J. O. Rodgers, Wm. F. Moody and Julius Blaha with Henry M. Goldberg as chairman of this committee.

The joint traffic committee has been working for a number of months on traffic problems which are of great concern to the city and much good work has been done, and in order that the newly appointed committee may not work at cross purposes with the one formerly appointed, it is suggested that these two committees work together. A joint meeting will be held in the near future in order that this much needed work for our city may be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

New Report French Fliers Found Alive

(International News Service)

QUEBEC, June 28.—An unverified report received here today stated that Captains Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, French trans-Atlantic flyers, had been found alive at Ghost Lake ,about 400 miles north of here.

Geologists of the Federal Government working in the district were reported to have located the aviators. The report, although regarded by officials as the most reliable yet received, is entirely unconfirmed.

Ghost Lake, near Lake Chibougaman, is about 100 miles from the nearest railroad, at Roberval. The intervening country is practically uninhabited wilderness, and it would take some time to travel across it.

Numerous reports have been received in the past few weeks from various northern points in Canada that the French flyers had been found, but all proved groundless upon investigation.

Nungesser, a famous war "ace" and "one-eye" Coli, his companion, left Le Bourget field outside Paris on May 8, intending to fly to New York without stop. The last definite report of them was when they were seen flying over the English channel, out toward the open sea.

Chambers Makes Address To Lions

C. C. Harry, Home From Florida, Also Makes Short Speech.

Attorney James A. Chambers gave a very fine talk on helping the other fellow to the members of the Lions Club on Tuesday, June 28, at their noonday meeting at the Elks Home.

Tracing the history of civilization, he pointed out that it was when the spirit of co-operation became manifest that when people began to see that helping the other fellow was the real happines of life, civilization advanced. It was this spirit of co-operation that put the United States in the late war, and our country has shown the same helping spirit since, and the real brotherhood of nations will come when all nations join in a co-operative spirit for the good of all.

C. C. Harry, former president of the club, home from Florida, was present and gave a short speech expressing his pleasure at being back in New Castle.

Entertainment was also furnished by Dover and Stolton, the current act at the Penn theater, and they gave some peppy songs and dancing.

Report Colored Man Confesses To Murder Here

Sheriff's Office Gets Message That May Clean Up Unsolved Crime Here.

According to a telephone message received this morning by Deputy Sheriff William McK. Reynolds, Eugene Anderson, colored, charged with the murder of Dile Allen at New Castle Junction on Wednesday, April 29, 1925, has confessed to the murder. Anderson is charged in Cincinnati, Ohio, with the murder of a man known as "Bateye" Miller.

If the man arrested is Eugene Anderson and his confession is genuine, it clears up an unsolved murder in Lawrence county. On the morning of Wednesday, April 29, 1925, Allen, also colored, had his throat cut in a work camp on the B. & O. railroad at New Castle Junction.

The then county detective, Jack M. Dunlap, was called at about 2 o'clock in the morning and responded to the call. Upon arriving at the camp he found Allen lying on the floor leaning partly against a stove, his throat gashed as though with a hatchet.

A search was conducted in the yards surrounding the camp and the colored workmen questioned. Their story was that Allen and a negro known as "Don't You Know", whose name was said to be Eugene Anderson had had an altercation and that Anderson had pulled out a knife and slashed Allen's throat. The murderer then fled.

At the coroner's inquest held some days later, the jury found that Allen came to his death at the hands of Eugene Anderson alias "Don't You Know".

Because Anderson is on trial for murder in Cincinnati, Ohio, it is hardly likely that he will be brought back here. Should he be acquitted it is probable that the indictment of June, 1925, will be pressed and the man returned for trial.

Estimate 15,000 Miners Idle By Strike Thursday

Bituminous Coal Mines To Close Thursday At Midnight.

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., June 28—Cambria, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Centre and Bedford Counties will be chiefly affected by the suspension in the Central Pennsylvania bituminous coal field which becomes effective next Thursday night, Charles O'Neill, president of the central Pennsylvania Association of Bituninous coal operators, announced today.

O'Neill estimated the number of miners who will be thrown out of employment by the failure of the miners and the operators to negotiate a new wage agreement in Philadelphia last week as 15,000.

In addition to asking a renewal of the wage scale called for in the Jacksonville agreement which expired last March 31, but which was continued in the central Pennsylvania field while efforts were made to reach a new agreement, O'Neill said the miners' representatives asked abolition of car pushing, uniform dead work and yardage scale, and elimination of the penalty clause from the contract.

The earliest record of an eight-hour workday was at the building of Whitehall and of Hampton Court Palace in London.

ECONOMY WILL BE A SLOGAN.

WHETHER or not he is a candidate for reelection, President Coolidge will have a great part in shaping the issues, about which will be waged the presidential campaign next year. It is a certainty that his views will be included in the Republican platform.

Inevitably, the keystone of the platform will be government economy. Perhaps the platform makers will adopt these very words of the chief executive:

"One of the greatest safeguards of this nation, financially, socially and morally lies in constructive economy."

Coolidge political wisdom as well as the man's shrewd economic sense are emphasized in these words. None knows better than he the campaign value of tax reduction through reduction of the cost of government.

He favors tax reduction. Thanks to his insistence on economical operation of the federal government, the treasury surplus this year guarantees tax reduction and the financial condition of the government promises further reduction next year and the year after.

No one doubts that either of the national conventions will adjourn without embodying in its platform the Coolidge program of tax reduction within the limits of sound business methods and rapid retirement of the public debt.

The shortest road to lower taxes is early retirement of the war debt and curtailment of government expenses to the lowest point consistent with adequate public service. Government costs cannot be cut without abolition of needless bureaus and the release of surplus jobholders, but every dollar of debt paid off this year means no taxes will be needed next year to pay the interest on it.

THE GAME EXTERMINATOR.

LACK of respect for game laws has long been characteristic of certain elements of our population.

A lamentable feature of the situation is that those who kill game out of season have nothing of the sportsman in them. They are pot hunters at heart, and a bevy of quail at roost or running in a furrow are slaughtered without a pang. They defeat the purpose of those who feed and protect game birds and other animals during the winter that they may propagate for the benefit of all sportsmen. Then can not be called "poor sportsmen," for they have nothing of the sportsman in their miserable make-up.

Depredations of the modern poacher are not confined to game birds. Even rural resident has been a spectator to the delight some huntsmen take in wantonly destroying songbirds so greatly cherished and so rapidly becoming extinct. Surely it is not their love for meat which prompts them to stifle the sweet woodland melodies. Those knowing the type would sooner believe that they are actuated more by the desire to take life and to pander to their pride of markmanship.

It is fully established that the United States would have been devoid of virtually all wild life years ago had the majority of hunters not been thoughtful sportsmen. In the observance of the game laws and the conservation of wildlife the sportsman sacrifices nothing because they are for his own interest, but he should not be robbed of these benefits by the unscrupulous and lawless hunter.

OUR CELESTIAL VISITOR

THE PONS-WINNECKE comet is now visible faintly to the naked eye in the northern sky near Vega. It is not the spectacular display that was given by Halley's comet in 1910, and probably will hold little interest for amateur observers. Nevertheless it is an impressive fact that this comet is nearer to the earth than any that has appeared since 1770.

At is closest approach its estimated distance from our planet will be about 14 times the space that separates earth from the moon.

Moreover, it is a comet for which men should feel some gratitude because it is one of those which have contributed toward dispelling the superstitious fears that formerly were inspired by these strange celestial visitors.

A large comet which has been coming regularly every six years since 1858 does not leave much room to doubt that it travels in a fairly regular orbit and has no more effect on the earth today than it had millions of years ago.

PROSPERITY.

SENATOR BORAH in an article in the New York Times magazine, calls attention to the present standard of living of the American people:

"According to the census, we have about 27,500,000 families in the United States. Forty-six percent of these own homes —15,923,000 electrically lighted, 17,790,000 with telephones. After all, the highest function of government and the most sublime achievement of statecraft is the administering of public affairs to the upbuilding of contented and prosperous homes.

'Our people own 19,237,171 automobiles. There are something over 26,016,000 individuals registered in elementary and secondary public and private schools; 2,755,000 in public and private high schools; 999,200 in normal schools, teachers' colleges, universities, colleges and professional colleges."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:34. Sun rises tomorrow 4:31.

All Sunday amusements at which admission is charged have been declared illegal by the supreme court of Pennsylvania. That's just fine! Nothing should be allowed to interfere with the great American Sunday, especially in the great state of Pennsylvania where the Declaration of Independence was signed by wonderful God fearing men.

Low hanging tree limbs are getting their work in on straw hats these days especially during and after a rain. Full sized men notice this the most of course and we cannot get our six feet under some of those low hanging branches. Let's have clear sailing on the sidewalks under the trees in New Castle.

A speaker at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar association held at Bedford Springs declared there was a growing disrespect for our laws. Some of the lawyers seem to look at them contemptously at that.

Any flyer who may fly from this county to Germany will be shown the finest breweries in the world, just as soon as they land. About the only industries they have in Germany that run full time seem to be the suds factories.

We visited Harry Good and his good wife at the Glad Haven home at Enon Valley and saw a nice ripe tomato growing right out in the open. It had been ripe for several days when we saw it. It surely is the first outside grown love berry in this county. We also had a good look at the hundreds of beautiful Delphiniums on his place. He has a whole flower show of his own when it comes to those beautiful flowers. He carried off the Blue Ribbon at the local flower show. The Goods have a wonderful place and are always glad to see people who love flowers.

We heard a minister say that when he finished his two sermons on Sunday he started right in getting ready for the next two sermons. He preaches some mighty fine sermons we know. When we heard him say this we said to our better 95 per cent. I could like to see him follow me in the Hints and Dints column for a week." She said "He might be able to do it all right, but how would you get along getting out two sermons." We had to shut up right there.

If the movie actors walk out and refuse to accept the wage reduction put up to them it ought not to be hard to get actors just as rotten as they are for less money. Most any one seems to be able to get into the movies just so they do something that attracts attention and some of it isn't Sunday school stuff either.

A sheriff in Kansas says young people don't have places to spoon and he favors a park exclusive for such purposes. Wonder where that sheriff has been keeping himself, but things may be different in Kansas than they are any other places in this country.

If women haven't a sense of humor, most of their marriages must be frightfully mercenary.

The first base ball game ever played by electric lights was played a few days ago at Lynn, Mass., and thousands attended the game. This will be another good excuse for men staying out late at night.

A practical joke played on a practical joker usually succeeds in making him sore. The practical joker has a great sense of humor, but it's all one-sided. The world would be better off if there were no such varmints.

Just before going to the electric chair a murderer told reporters that he had killed forty-three people during his life. No doubt there are trusting souls who think a baby like that should be turned loose and fed up for new killings. We have such tender hearted souls in this wicked world of ours.

We know of a university where the students are allowed religious freedom, though it is a regulation of the school that the girls must attend Sunday school and church services of the denomination of their choice. That's religious freedom all right.

A beefsteak that has to be "pounded" is usually a tuff proposition.

There has been mighty little porch swing weather so far this summer. When the weather is too cold for that it borders on the scandalous, we mean the weather of course!

Frequently you will find that "resting" is the most tiresome thing you ever did.

Some days ago we asked in this column if our readers were satisfied with the poetry appearing in this column. So far we have heard no complaints, so it must be the stuff is all right. We do not write the poetry and most of it is sent in by well meaning friends, but we will not allow this column to go back just to give them a chance to get their stuff printed. Any time you get tired of the poetry make a yell!

RESULTS

If you allow a mean thought
To stay in your mind
And take root,
Be sure it will thrive
And bear evil fruit
Of which you will some
Day be ashamed.

And if, on the other hand,
You hold in your mind
A kindly thought of generosity,
An idea in which love is
The main motive,
Be assured that if this thought
Takes root it will bear
Blossoms, which will delight
You and others also.

Dear Sir:—Don't let's hog the belief that we are nearly perfect. Who are we that we should crow? Anybody can step on a worm, but we can't buffalo nature. The best of us have the beast in us. So let's get down from our high horses and talk turkey. We may have come from monkeys—perhaps we are going to the dogs. Why beef about it?

M. R.

Editor's note: Yes, yes, but what's it all about?

NOT SO CHEAP

I scorn the man who hollers
That talk is cheap. Oh, Fudge!
It cost me fifty dollars
To say, "Good morning, Judge!"

Dare to look up to God and to say:
"Make use of me for the future as
Thou wilt.
I am of the same mind;
I am one with Thee.
I refuse nothing which Seems good to Thee;
Lead me whither Thou wilt.
Clothe me in whatever dress Thou wilt."

—Epictetus.

We often see the young shieks and some old men imitating the young ones carrying canes as they go along the streets. We have often wondered just why men carry canes. Men get along very nicely without their appendixes so why carry a stick. Perhaps they think the ladies will get stuck on them.

With women wearing the furs in summer time it is no more than fair to them that they should have furlined underwear in the winter time. But the question with us is, how are they going to show it.

This is learn to swim week for the women. At the swimming pools and bathing beaches it will be "take a look week" for the men.

The question is being propounded as to what constitutes an ideal vacation. Here is our opinion: Plenty of money and lots of time.

The Supreme Court of the state has ruled that Sunday baseball and amusements to which admission are charged are illegal in this state. But that won't decide anything to those people who wilfully and definately violate the law.

People never know how careful they can be until they have children or white shoes.

Chamberlin and Levine the flyers who went to Germany seem to be visiting more breweries than anything else. But inasmuch as it was the breweries that made Germany famous they are seeing the important sights. But how different from Lindbergh who refused to have anything to do with French wine and French women.

We have received a letter from a reader of the News as follows:

Commander Byrd's Master of Science degree from Yale, is not, strictly speaking an honorary degree. He has had to burn a lot of midnight oil and gasoline to get it.

By act of the South Dakota legislature the peak overlooking the President's summer home is now called Mount Coolidge. This makes it a perfectly 50-50 proposition by which Mr. Coolidge has come to the mountain and the mountain has come to Mr. Coolidge.

Next year's treasury surplus, we are warned, will not be $600,000,000, but about half that amount. But the ordinary citizen with a good sized surplus in his own treasury at this time is not worrying about next year, so why should we do so.

It is perfectly proper of course that the summer White House should be in the Black Hills.

Still, tidewater Congressmen are as eager to curb the Mississippi as prairie Congressmen are to establish a big Navy.

If Nature didn't foresee the flivver age, what was she trying to do when she developed the grasshopper?

It must be annoying in these times to be a diplomat and realize that cannon fodder is too fed up to get excited if you say "Sic 'em."

Good Suggestions.

Japan sensibly suggests a perpetual tready of peace and friendship with the United States.

That would suit us, in fact, we feel that we have such a treaty already, at least on our side, with all the nations of the world. We have never started a war with any nation and don't want any.

What we have, what we have made, is all we want. It wasn't until the kaiser told us where we might and might not send our ships on the wide oceans that we took a part in his war.

It is announced at Geneva by Hugh Gibson, "United States observer" at the league of nations, that after the peace conference in 1921, when we scrapped hundreds of millions worth of magnificent new warships, "Britain kept her new ships, scrapping only old ships." Of course she did. The British employ statesmen like Balfour, not politicians.

Doctors will be interested in official confirmation of that which many of them suspect. The Rochester Chamber of Commerce, investigating fraudulent securities, discovers that "physicians in general are as gullible as children in investing money."

The saddest part of it is that the better the doctor, the easier it is to get his money away from him. This, perhaps is providential wisdom. It keeps hard at work valuable scientists who might otherwise retire permanently.

The society of automotive engineers makes two good suggestions.

First, standardize bumpers front and rear, all at the same heighth above the ground, and let bumper hit bumper in any collision.

Second, have standardized, distinctive colors for the covering of all wires in the car to help in tracing trouble.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

LOVE THE BEST CRITIC

Do not try to criticize anything, a book, a play, or a person, unless you love it.

Love is not blind. Love is the only thing that can see. Hate and prejudice and coldness are blind. The furies are blind. But love has wide open eyes.

I once remarked to the editor of a newspaper that it seemed to me it would be a good thing if no critic were allowed to write upon a play unless he loved it. Only such a person could tell the truth about it. Unless he was deeply in sympathy inable profession which was to be avoided at all costs.....

Now for those guilty of political offenses. One thousand, five hundred and forty one individuals have been warned, 1,959 have been admonished, 698 have been sent to forced domicile. I defy any one to deny the absolute correctness of these figures. It is time to tell the world, because it has been said abroad that they amount to 200,000. It has been said that in Milan alone, 26,000 persons have been sent to forced domicile. All this is stupid, even more than it is cowardly. Some people talk of amnesty. No, gentlemen, there will be no amnesty. But the fact that I refuse to grant collective amnesty does not prevent me from issuing pardons in certain individual cases. What plan do I follow when I pardon somebody? First I examine his War record. Evidently, if he is maimed or has won medals or passed several years in the trenches, he has higher chances for clemency than one who has not. Then I examine the state of his health and his family. Finally I examine what the deportee himself has to say for himself. Is this terror, gentlemen? No! It is hardly even severity. Is it terrorism. No! These measures are measures of social hygiene, of national prophylactics. I remove certain individuals from contact with their fellowmen, as a doctor would segregate one affected with infectious disease."

He then told the Chamber what Fascist Government was striving for. He wanted larger, healthier families, temperance, not prohibition, the colonization of the provinces which Italy obtained from Austria after the War, the suppression of the Black Hand and Maffia, which he believed had been virtually accomplished, and finally his great ambition, the Corporative State which he plans shall consist of a Parliament elected from the Corporations or Committees which alone now represent in Italy the classes of employers and employed. He ended his speech as follows:

"Five years ago I thought that after five years I would have finished the major part of my work. Now I see I have not, I am convinced that, despite the gradual creation of a directing class, despite the discipline of the people, I must assume the task of governing the Italian people for ten or fifteen years more, is necessary, not because I am lustful for power, but because it is my precise duty."

The time has come when Signor Mussolini can not be taken by the Nations of the world as a joke. The people of Italy are back of him almost to a man. If he lives fifteen years longer, Italy will be a great Nation. The Romans have always been a hardy people.

JUDGEMENT

He judged by dress and word and deed
And fancied I was queer,
Because I chose a book to read
When dancing girls were near.

And I who found the printed line
So full of rich delight
Judged very strange that friend of mine
Who never reads at night.

And some were failures unto me
Who broke with certain rules,
While those who labored rich to be
Ranked me with cranks and fools.

Yet much of joy was mine to know
Through many a passing year,
Through swifter mortals thought me slow
And others thought me queer.

The mind is master of us all
And what is peace to me
Perhaps my neighbor there would call
Life's utmost cruelty.

And since there's much we cannot see
Deep down within the core,
When strange another seems to me
I'll judge his life no more.

In Day's News

Otis Skinner, who today enters upon his 70th year, has long been numbered among the most accomplished actors of the American stage. Mr. Skinner was born in Cambridge, Mass., and was the son of a well-known Universalist divine of Boston. Like so many ministers' sons, the stage appealed irresistibly, and in 1879 he made his first appearance as an actor in a stock company in Philadelphia. A year later he went to New York and soon after secured an engagement with Edwin Booth. During the next few seasons he was seen in support of Lawrence Barrett and with Augustin Daly's company. Then came his long career of artistic endeavor as leading man for Mme. Modjeska. After five years he left that great actress to become a star on his own account. Mr. Skinner has never swerved from his high standards. He has offered the works of the best French and English dramatists and encouraged native playwrights.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHAT HE REALLY SAID.

Benito Mussolini made a two and a half hour address to the Chamber of Deputies the first of June. His speech was garbled a great deal in the American Press, which made it appear to be a bombastic oration. It might be considered the speech of a very egotistical man, but it is a speech of a very thoro-going executive. An accurate report of that speech is now available, and its high spots are worth while repeating here.

"Honorable Fascist Deputies, I am very sorry and profoundly humiliated to announce to you that my speech today will not be as short as mine usually are—I need to take the Italian Nation and place it in front of itself—

"Besides, after this speech I propose to place upon my tongue not the usual Athenian bull, but a couple of oxen, and I shall not speak again till next year. My speech, therefore, will be necessary, irritating and amusing. Necessary, because I have decided to say all that is necessary. Not a word more. Irritating, because I shall say some unpleasant things. Perhaps I shall shatter some false axioms on which we were reclining.

"Finally, the third part of my speech will contain a polemic, a part for which, as you know, I am particularly fitted, and during which I wish to amuse myself by goading all internal and external enemies of the Fascist regime."

Mussolini then proceeded to explain his attitude toward the Locarno Pact.

"The structure of the Pact of Locarno was the following: France and Germany pledged themselves not to be mutually aggressive, having on their side a couple of policemen, namely, England and Italy, watching that the pledge is not violated. It was important for Italy at that moment to join England in order to guarantee peace on the Rhine, which in reality is the peace of Europe. But something better was done at Locarno, it was the operation of the pure chemistry of distillation; the spirit of Locarno was manufactured. Gentlemen, the spirit of Locarno today, at scarcely two years' distance, it is extraordinarily discolored. I mention this here without any intention of starting a polemic. What has happened? The Locarnoist nations arm themselves furiously by land and sea, indeed some of these nations have even dared to speak of the war of doctrine which their democracies should have waged against this irreducible Fascist Italy which is anti-democratic, anti-liberal, anti-socialist, anti-Masonic.

"Besides, there have been manifestations which it would be criminal for us to ignore. What I must reproach democracy for is that it creates one type of man and really believes that this man exists. This leads to atrocious disillusion, tragedies, butcheries. Gentlemen, only the other day a great Berlin parade of spiked helmets occurred. There were 120,000. This is of mediocre interest for us, but one of the posters they carried bore the following inscription: 'From Trieste to Riga.' It is mad, paradoxical, grotesque, but it is a fact. Therefore the precise, fundamental duty of Fascist Italy is to reach a maximum strength with her armed forces on land, sea, and air.

"Hence we must at a given moment be able to mobilize 5,000,000 men thoroughly armed, we must strengthen our navy; while aviation, in which I believe more than ever, must be on such a large scale and so powerful that the noise of its motors must surpass any other noise, and the area of the wings of our airplanes must obscure the sun from our land. Then between 1935 and 1940, when we shall reach the crucial point in European history, we will be able to make our voice heard, and see at last our rights acknowledged. This preparation requires some years more."

The police system of the Fascist Government has been criticized very sharply by the world. Speaking of that, the Duce said:

"It was necessary to weed out police, especially the plain clothes police..... When police are in plain clothes, and have not the check of uniform they must be composed of picked men—zealous and silent citizens. Fortunately, Italians are now ridding their minds of the residue left by the memory of past foreign dominations, of the Habsburgs, of the Bourbons, of the Grand Dukes, as a result of which that of the police was looked upon as an odious and abom-

BOOKS AND THINGS.

Just after graduation, the boys and girls are seeking advice about careers. "What shall we do to get rich?" is the commonest question among the new graduates. Others, including many of the collegians who have studied what used to be called the humanities, ask, "What shall we do to live a full and satisfactory life?"

"I suppose every person of mature years is sought out by young people who are undecided about careers. I know that a great many youngsters who think writing a great game call on me and ask whether I know anything about how the trick may be turned. In such cases, I always feel sorry for myself, because I have so little wisdom to offer where there is so much receptivity.

There is a useful book, just out, that ought to help a good many of the young folk. It is "An Outline of Careers," and it is edited by Edward L. Bernays, a well-known publicity man. Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, Mary Roberts Rinehart, David Belasco, Vernon Kellogg, George H. Doran, Jesse L. Lasky, John Hays Hammond, Ray Long, Nelson A. Crawford and Harvey W. Corbett are among the thirty-eight who have written the various sections of this remarkable book. Each one offers advice on the profession or occupation he knows most about.

That kind of a book ought to help a good many of this year's graduates decide what they want to turn their hands and brains to for the next half century.

"Moonraker" is the name of a new pirate novel, which I've just finished reading. It's by F. Tennyson Jesse, who is a descendant of a close relative of Alfred Tennyson, the poet. She has some of the poet's feeling for words and cadences, and she knows her Haiti well. Her pirates are not so very convincing, but the book is good summer reading.

Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk has just been elected to his third term as president of Czecho-Slovakia. In 1918 I was sent to interview Dr. Masaryk, just after he had first assumed the presidency of his country, which had been carved out of a troubled map only a few days previously. I had never heard of the gentleman I was sent to interview. "What do you do for a living?" I asked him. "I am a teacher," he said, modestly. I almost muffed that interview. A bystander finally informed me that I was talking to the president of a new republic.

First Idea Of Decision Basis In Mayberry Case

News Press Dispatch From Philadelphia Gives Some Of Decision.

According to the decision of the State Supreme Court, written by Justice William I. Schaffer, and handed down on Saturday reversing the Lawrence County court in the case against Fred Mayberry, the local court erred in its charge to the jury.

The context of the decision has not reached New Castle yet, but the International News Service, the wire service of the New Castle News, secured and sent to this paper from Philadelphia, the following report:

"Justice William I. Schaffer, of the State Supreme Court with the remainder of the court concurring, handed down an opinion reversing the judgment of the lower court, however without prejudice to the commonwealth to proceed against Mayberry on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

"Justice Schaffer, in his opinion holds that trial Judge erred in giving instructions to the jurors that they could find a verdict against Mayberry either of first degree murder, second degree or involuntary manslaughter. These instructions, says the justice, were clearly unnecessary "and prejudicial as under the evidence none of these crimes was established. Here the accused had no intention of colliding with the automobile in which the child sat, it was his intention to follow the curve of the street and keep away from traffic on the other side. He was negligently operating his automobile at a speed unlawful."

"The higher court holds that there was evidence of the defendant's guilt of involuntary manslaughter "which is the crime the jurors thought him guilty, as they brought in their verdict in the first instance."

"An amendment allowed in the indictment, the higher court holds to have been merely a gramatical correction and was properly allowed in the court below."

with the author's purpose he could not see it.

People read reviews of plays anyhow to see which plays they ought to see, which plays might amuse them. They do not read these reviews in order to know which plays not to see.

Perhaps this would severely hamper the critic and reduce the amount of his writings, which would not be altogether an unmixed evil.

The lover sees his lady as a radiantly beautiful creature. No matter how commonplace she may look to others, according to him she is an angel. Her form and features are divine.

Is the lover wrong and is everybody else right? They see, after all, nothing but a drab little thing.

I think the lover is right. Upon his eyes has been squeezed a drop of some divine collyrium. He sees what no one else can see. He sees the spiritual beauty shining out from and transforming the dull material.

Is the mother dull who dotes upon the weakling child, upon the cripple or otherwise defective child, blind? Has her love blinded her? I think not. Her love has enabled her to see what no one else can see—those grains of beauty hidden somewhere in the bushel of ugly chaff.

Everything has some beauty about it, and no matter how mean and sordid a person may be, he has in him some elements of divine beauty. Nothing but love and sympathy can see this. Hardiness and coldness miss the beauty.

Someone said of one of Turner's paintings that he never saw a sunset like that. "Don't you wish you could?" replied Turner.

Herein the painter's art superior to the photographer's. The beauty lies not wholly in the thing itself, but partly in the person who interprets it.

There have been many travelers returning from China and India with reports that the offorts of the missionaries are wholly futile. Those people had better be left alone, they say. But others have seen in the work of the missionaries great success.

It all depends on what we look for and what we have eyes to see.

Your trip abroad may mean nothing to you, and you may discover only inconveniences and hardships of travel, unless you bring to that trip a spirit of discovery.

One man will witness a play and be immensely bored by it, while another will be intrigued and thrilled.

A man complained to Dr. Johnson that he did not understand a certain definition in his (Johnson's) dictionary, "Sir," replied Johnson, "I can supply you with a definition, but I cannot supply you with the intelligence to comprehend it."

John B. Keifer Receives Packages Of Medicine; Latest German Discovery

Recently an item appeared in The News, from Berlin, concerning the development of a new treatment for diabetes. The medicine, which is taken in tablet form, is just being marketed, and by a peculiar coincidnece, probably the first shipment to United States has been received by John B. Keifer, of 117 North Jefferson street, this city.

Mr. Keifer, heard of the medicine several months ago, and four months ago sent an order, although the medicine was not yet on the market. He received the medicine yesterday. It came in three tubes, of small dimensions, and cost about $25.

Mr. Keifer secured the medicine for some member of his family, and is hopeful that all that is claimed for it, will come true.

Here is the item which appeared in The News, and which explains the new discovery:

BERLIN, June 17.— Insulin has been outdone as a cure for diabetes by a new preparation from animal pancreas which can be taken in tablet form, according to claims published in the Clinical Weekly by the celebrated Professor Carl H. von Noorden of Frankfurt. Professor von Noorden's report on his experiments with the new preparation, whose discovery had been previously announced, was awaiting with the greatest interest by the whole medical world.

According to his report, Professor von Noorden tried out the new preparation on 60 patients with complete and uniform success. The sugar content of the blood dropped gradually beginning with the second day, and independent of the meals, but it never dropped below normal nor was any other unfavorable result noticed. Even in very grave cases in which the patients would have been ordinarily given 60 to 80 units of insulin, the new preparation worked equally efficacious.

On the basis of these experiments Professor von Noorden has released the new preparation for general use by all scientists and physicians.

THIN PEOPLE NEED THIS HELP

Excessively thin people are really not well. Nature makes provisions for a fair degree of plumpness in all her creatures, and its absence is neither healthful nor beautiful.

Many people fail to get full value from the food they eat simply because digestion isn't right. One of the commonest causes of imperfect digestion is a catarrhal trouble. The stomach is lined with the same membrane that covers the throat and nose, and it is subject to the same catarrh.

Beauty Is Restored

Then digestion is interfered with, and food fails to yield its full value in body building materials. Sometimes sour stomach is frequent, usually constipation is present.

This condition often brings about extreme thinness, and the cause is not known to the victim. World's Tonic, the great catarrh remedy, usually conquers such cases quickly.

A pleasing roundness succeeds the angles, the figure is developed, the complexion clears of its sallowness, and the eyes sparkle with health. Thousands know of the value of this great medicine. You may derive wonderful benefits from its use. World's Tonic is for sale at McKee's, Eckerd's, Paisley's, Smith's and all good druggists.

"I was so thin everybody joked about it, and I was ashamed myself. All I ate did not seem to help me. My druggist told me about World's Tonic. I took it and gained 20 pounds in four months. More than that, it made me feel so strong and well that I have forgotten how to worry. Jessie Jones, 7th Avenue, Beaver Falls, Pa. (212)

Lewis W. McClung Is Candidate For City Treasurer

LEWIS W. McCLUNG

To the Voters of the City of New Castle:

In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of City Treasurer at the primary on Tuesday, September 20, I take this opportunity to give briefly the fundamental facts that voters should know about those who wish to represent them in public office.

I am 41 years old and have always been a resident of Lawrence county. I am a graduate of the New Castle Business College, and after three years with the Pennsylvania railroad in a clerical position became associated with the Carnegie Steel Company and have been steadily employed there for 18 years, the last five as paymaster.

My business training, practical financial experience and my age, I believe, gives me the necessary qualifications to properly administer the affairs of the office.

I also wish to say that I am a property owner and taxpayer, and that all my interests are in New Castle. My interests are the interests of thousands of citizens and taxpayers of the city of New Castle—efficient and capable administration of public affairs and the steady advancement of our city.

I ask all citizens to be fair-minded in considering the candidates for this important office. With the experience that has been mine and the qualifications of citizen, taxpayer and property owner, I am available at this time and feel justified in asking every citizen for their support. If elected I will conduct the office to the best of my ability in an efficient, courteous and accommodating manner.

Thanking you for your consideration, I am,

Sincerely,

Arrest Two As Aftermath Of Harbor Trouble

Woman And Son Accused By County Detective Of Felonious Assault.

Silvio Deli and his mother, Mrs. Lucy Deli, both of No. 8 Bank street, are charged with felonious assault and battery before Alderman William E. Marshall, by County Detective William Fleming as a result of the trouble at the Harbor Road school pump Monday. They have given bail in the sum of $2,000 each for their appearance at a hearing to be held Friday evening before Alderman Marshall.

When it was reported to the sheriff and county detective about noon Monday that a woman had been assaulted, allegedly by several men, on the Harbor road near the Welker green houses, County Detective Fleming and State Police Officer Munce started at once for the scene.

They knew the number of the automobile in the case and on looking it up found that it was listed in the name of Silvio Deli, No. 8 Bank street.

They had been out but a short time until they had secured the car and apprehended Delio and his mother and brought them into the city, where the charges against them for their alleged assault on Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jacobs of the Harbor road were made.

According to the story told by the county detective, Mrs. Jacobs had gone to the pump at the Harbor Road school for some water, while her husband was otherwise engaged.

About this time along came Silvio Deli and his mother in their car. The former asked if he might get some water and Mrs. Jacobs is alleged to have remarked that he could, providing he did not get any dirt in the bucket, which was her property.

Apparently this angered Deli. One word brought another and in a short time, Mrs. Jacobs and Deli were in a struggle in which the latter is alleged to have beaten the former. In the meantime, Mr. Jacobs arrived on the scene and took part in the contest in an effort to protect his wife. It is at this time that Deli is alleged to have severed a finger of the husband with his teeth.

Deli and his mother, left and the authorities were called and also asked for a physician to relieve the sufferings of Mrs. Jacobs.

It was necessary to take seven stitches in a wound on the head of Mrs. Jacobs.

MERCER NEWS

The approval of the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania is being asked by the County Commissioners of Mercer County on the bridge they propose for construction at Carlton in this county which will be a part of the Lake to the Seas Highway.

The bridge designed by county Engineer F. P. Graham calls for a 24 foot span of re-enforced concrete and steel construction.

It will replace at this point a 60 foot bridge. It is the intent of the commissioners to bridge the remainder of the gap by a fill.

The bridge is the only remaining structure that will be built this summer that the county officials now know of.

Bids will be asked on it at once as soon as the Water Supply Commission approves.

State health department inspectors investigated the sources of the present water and labelled two open springs serving 60 families as "dangerous." The investigators advised the miners to boil the water before using.

Detailed reports of the tests were made to the state board of health at Harrisburg.

Big Delegation For Cleveland

Nearly 60 Accredited Delegates From County To Attend Convention

UPWARDS OF 200 TO SEE PARADE

Nearly 60 persons from Lawrence county will attend the 31st international convention of the Christian Endeavor Union, which will open in Cleveland, O., on Saturday, July 2. They will attend as delegates from this county, but almost 200 will go from here to witness the international Christian Endeavor parade, which will be held on the afternoon of July 4.

This convention is expected to be the largest gathering of this interdenominational body that has ever been held. Leaders expect over 15,000 young people from all over the world to attend.

The opening keynote will be delivered by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the organization, when he will speak at the first general session to be held in Public Hall on Saturday evening, on "Crusade With Christ".

Many prominent clergymen and public men will attend as speakers and guests. J. C. Penney will speak on Sunday, July 3, at 2:30 p. m. Governor A. V. Donahey of Ohio will deliver the address on Monday evening. Dr. Robert E. Speer, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, will also speak.

Monday, July 4, will be one of the big days. The huge parade will be held in the afternoon, with Governor Donahey as one of the reviewers. Representatives of foreign countries at the convention will be greeted in the evening.

The closing speech will be delivered by Dr. Daniel Poling on Thursday night, July 7.

A trust fund was planned to have been presented to Dr. Francis E. Clark, "the father of Christian Endeavor", at this gathering, but the young endeavorers will gather with tears in their eyes and conduct a memorial for him, as he died a few weeks ago. The trust fund of $65,000 in recognition of his service for the young people will be presented to his wife.

Horse Lifted Out Hole By Aid Of Derrick

COLUMBUS, O., June 28.—A huge derrick owned by the Street Railway and Light Co., was employed here to pull a horse out of a hole in which it had fallen.

The derrick succeeded where policemen, firemen, Humane Society officials and Railway and Light Co. employes had failed after working and tugging for more than half an hour.

The horse owned by the American Railway Express Co., seemed to be suffering intensely as he lay on his back in the four foot gas hole but when placed safely on his feet again walked away as if nothing had happened.

The horse fell into the hole beside the curb where workmen were putting in a section of pipe. It was not until the huge railway derrick was brought into action and ropes placed about the body of the animal that he was finally hoisted to the surface.

Brothers Estranged 6 Years Meet In Jail

ATLANTIC CITY June 28.—Two brothers who had been estranged nearly six years faced each other under unusual circumstances in the county jail here. They are Thos. M. Davis and Harry Davis real estate brokers.

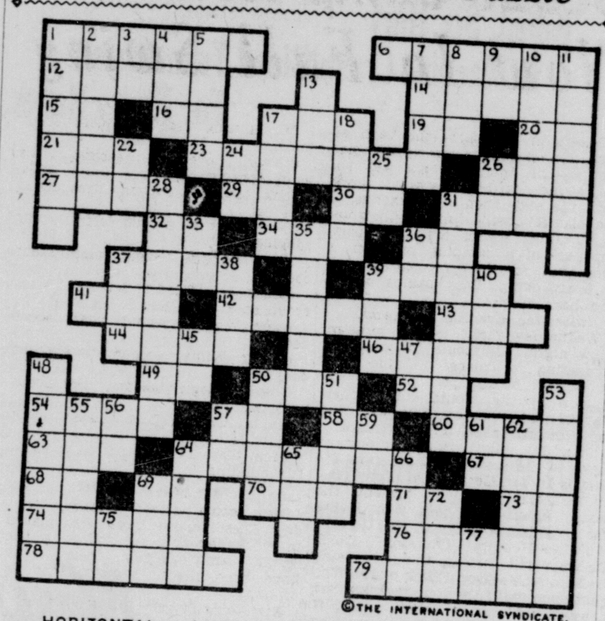

They found themselves in adjoining cells at Mayes Landing for contempt of court. Because of differences the two hadn't spoken to each other all that time and according to the jail warden their sudden meeting did not cause them to break the silence.

Tom Davis was committed to jail for "contempt of court, perjury and violation of the election laws."

Harry Davis was committed by the same judge, having been held in contempt for failure to meet alimony payments of $50 a week.

State Is Urging Fight Against Peach Yellows

HARRISBURG June 28—Owners of peach orchards were urged today by W. A. McCubbin, chief plant pathologist of the state department of agriculture, to make an inspection of all trees about July 1 and remove promptly all trees affected with "peach yellows." This is the only cheap, sure and effective method of controlling the disease, which becomes most evident by the yellowing of the leaves, Mr. McCubbin said.

Careful inspection work conducted by the department during the past six years is claimed to have been directly responsible for a decrease in peach yellows from 4.5 per cent in 1921 to less than one per cent in 1926. The inspections are made annually and in more than 400 commercial orchards. All trees showing symptoms of yellow are marked and later removed by the owner.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

A Long Distance Friend

Peter shivered slightly.

"What a narrow escape I had," declared he. "I wasn't an enemy at all, but I suppose if you had not warned me just in time I would have touched you and gotten a quill in my hand that would have dug me just as deeply as though I had been. Why, Porcupine, those barbed bristles of yours are a lot like fish hooks—easy enough to catch hold of, but dreadfully hard to let go of. I am glad to know one thing, though—it will make me feel safer when I walk through the woods—and that is that you can't throw your spikes at me. If you could I might get one in the eye when I wasn't in the least expecting it. As it is, I shall take mighty good care to steer clear of you—to greet you from afar—and so I shall keep out of trouble. You shall be my long distance friend. Say, Porky, explain one thing, will you?"

"Of course," replied his companion briskly. "What do you want to know?"

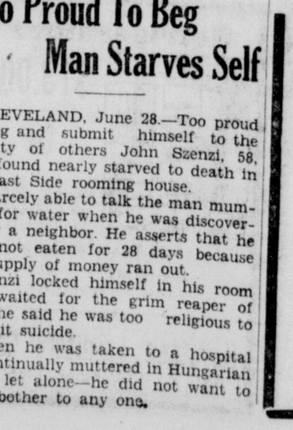

"How could you, a Four-Foot, fly through the air?"

"Couldn't," chuckled Porky. "Could't fly to save my life and I didn't try. I did something far easier—I just dropped."

"Gee Whillikens! Why, you might have broken your neck! Wasn't that a dangerous thing to do," Peter asked, much surprised to find that Porky had deliberately tumbled to the ground. But Porcupine shook his head.

"Dangerous? Not a bit of it. I shouldn't have tried it if it had been, although I will admit that I was a bit nervous at first. That was my first drop, although I have watched my Cousin Quills do it lots of times. You see I couldn't very well get hurt, I made a ball of myself, so no matter which way I fell I would land on my quills and they are so strong that they never even bent and I scarcely felt the jar. Now that I have done it once I shall take the 'drop' every time I want to get from the tree to the ground. It is lots of fun. Say, boy, you ought to-"

Just what he thought Peter ought to do, however, was not quite clear.

"HE SPED TO THE FLAT ROCK AND CROUCHED DOWN BEHIND IT"

Suddenly Porcupine, without another word, started to crawl away.

"Wait a moment, where are you going, Porky?" began the boy and then in the gloom behind him he heard a faint shuffling sound that sent shivers up his spine.

"Some one is behind that tree who has no business there," said he to himself. "These Four-Feet never wait for explanations. I had better go while the going is good. There is no telling what that creature, whoever he may be, might do if he saw me and there is no use in taking chances." Peter glanced over his shoulder and just then he spied a large flat rock.

"I can't help wondering who is coming," muttered he. "I hate to run away without finding out. Guess I'll hide behind that rock and see what happens. I was silly to be frightened, even for a second. There is no animal around here that will dare hurt a Two-Legs.'

Suiting his actions to his words, he sped to the flat rock and crouched down behind it and he had been there but a moment when he heard a familiar voice.

Too Proud To Beg Man Starves Self

CLEVELAND, June 28.—Too proud to beg and submit himself to the charity of others John Szenzi, 58, was found nearly starved to death in an East Side rooming house.

Scarcely able to talk the man mumbled for water when he was discovered by a neighbor. He asserts that he had not eaten for 28 days because his supply of money ran out.

Szenzi locked himself in his room and waited for the grim reaper of life—he said he was too religious to commit suicide.

When he was taken to a hospital he continually muttered in Hungarian to be let alone—he did not want to be a bother to any one.

'Barefoot Boy' Joins Things Of Memory

Where are the barefoot boys of yesterday? is the question we ask as we watch the crowd of youngsters on the streets of New Castle these days. For as sure as came the month of May in years of yore, just as sure came the troops of barefooted boys, but now search as we might, we find very few feet "turned out to pasture" on the pavements of the city.

The why of the condition has been variously explained. Some say that since there are so many pavements the summer sun makes it too hot for bare feet, and this likely has a great deal to do with it. Others say there are so many more sharp ashes and glass, etc., that the boys must wear shoes to protect their feet. But we think that the fact that most families are much more able to buy shoes for little feet combined with the other reasons mentioned has a large influence.

Yet in the country district the decrease in numbers of barefooted boys and girls is not nearly so great we notice. Undoubtedly the overturned soil and green grass is much more inviting to bare feet than the hot pavements and ashes of the city.

But one thing certain the pavements in the city so far this year can hardly have blistered many feet, while in the country districts the boy as he brings in the cows from the field has stood longer on the spots where the cattle had made their bed in the pasture or skipped from rock to rock that still retained the heat of yesterday's sun.

South New Castle School Building Will Be Enlarged

The South New Castle Boro school district will soon take bids for a one room brick addition to the present school building and will also receive bids for repairs to the heaters and also bids for new heaters for the building, according to George A. Conley, secretary of the board.

He states that if reasonable bids are submitted for repairing the old furnace, this will be done, if not, new heaters will be installed.

The one room brick addition will accommodate 40 pupils when completed and will be constructed so that another room can be added when necessary.

Mr. Conley states that the board is not sure of adding this room to the building. "It all depends on the bids," he said.

Two-Hundred Billion Is Gross Return From 1926 Income Tax, Is Revealed

Figures Show About Nine Per cent Increase Over Returns For 1925

Individual Returns For 1926 Were $25,272,034,000; Corporations $135,191,000,000

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 28.—America's gross income in 1926 was nearly $200,000,000,000.

This gigantic dollar turnover was disclosed today by statistics and treasury figures showing income tax collections in 1926 exceeded those of 1925 by about nine per cent.

The official gross income of corporations and individuals making federal tax returns for 1925 were given as follows:

Individuals—$25,272,034,000.
Corporations—$135,191,000,000.

Small Percentage

These incomes represent those of only 4,171,451 individuals out of the country's 116,000,000 population, and 430,000 corporations. The incomes of the remainder of the population were estimated at nearly $20,000,000,000, which escapes taxation by legitimate or illegitimate means.

Experts said that since tax rates are the same this year as for the period covered by the internal revenue report, it may be assumed that incomes for 1926 increased by the same percentage.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has estimated the annual income of individuals at $90,000,000,000. But slightly over one-fourth of this is shown on income tax returns. Experts said that billions of dollars that should be paying taxes escape entirely, placing a materially higher tax burden on the comparatively few supporters of the government.

Of the total number of corporations but 252,334 reported taxable income. This group paid the government $1,170,331,000 on $9,483,683,000 net income. The remainder of the corporations had a gross income of $22,499,062,000, but reported losses and deductions amounting to $24,000,000,000.

The number of individual returns filed was reduced by about four-sevenths and the volume of receipts was greater, with the result that the average tax on reporting incomes for 1925 was $176.11, compared to $95.56 for 1924. Taxable individuals paid the government 3.35 per cent of their incomes in 1925, compared to 2.74 per cent in 1924, while the average taxable income was increased from $3,481 to $5,249.

Treasury and congressional experts have started a study of the statistics of income, giving the first analysis of the results of the 1926 revenue act, in connection with the tax revision program to be presented next winter.

New Windsor Homes On Old Roman Road

LONDON, June 28.—Super homes with front doors opening on the marching route of the legionnaires of imperial Rome are planned on a 3,000 acre estate near here part of Windsor great forest, once the private hunting ground of the kings of England.

The forest is now state property, administered by the commissioner of crown heads. This conservative body is going into the realty business for the first time and it is doing so with the avowed object of earning natianal revenue from hitherto unproductive land.

School "Dunce" May Be Budding Genius

LONDON, June 28.—Dull children are not always dull adults. The boy who stands in the corner with a dunce cap on his head may be Chancellor of the Exchhequer 30 years hence or may be a budding Sir Walter Scott or a second Hume, so C. W. Cowen told the National Union of Teachers in a plea for more elastic classification of children in schools and the abandonment of age as the standard by which children are judged in assigning them school work.

BESSEMER

The alumni of Bessemer High school held their first banquet at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, a four course dinner being served, followed by an entertaining program. About a hundred alumni their friends and members of the school board were present. Distance was the only thing which kept a number of the alumni from being present.

Patsy Colucci of the class of 1926, presided as toastmaster and called upon A. J. Eales, Hannes Halttunen, John Brentin, Mr. Loghry, H. J. Colton, principal of the Bessemer high school and Rev. Engle of the Bessemer church for talks.

The alumni were also given a rare treat in the form of a vocal duet number, Broken Dreams, by Dorothy Winland and Edis Duvall. The "Old Gang" with Kenneth Gwin, Dolphie DiLullo, Lee McComb and Henry Navarra, were there again with a splendid quartet number. The instrumental artists were not forgotten either, for Florence Swanson and Harold Swanson gave a clarinet-piano duet, and John Duymovic delighted with a couple of accordian solos. The Bessemer string orchestra, directed by Louis Kinkela also played during the evening.

Folowing the program a short business meeting was held in which the following officers were elected: President, Merko Sepic; vice president, Patsy Colucci; secretary, Florence Swanson; treasurer, Lester Carlson; executive board, Hannes Halttunen, Mary Sepic, Mary Nord and Frederick Beck.

The old school spirit, fellowship and sentiment were much in evidence during the evening. The activities of the evening were brought to a close with cheers led by James Young.

U. S. Investors Hold Thirteen Billion In Foreign Countries

NEW YORK, June 28.—American investment in foreign countries at the end of 1926 reached a total of approximately $13,000,000,000, exclusive of the political or war debts, according to a report by Dr. Max Winkler, vice-president of Bertron, Griscom & Company, bankers, published today by the information service of the foreign policy association.

Dr. Winkler's figure is appreciably in excess of estimates which have hitherto been published in connection with foreign borrowings in this country because it includes not only new issues offered for public subscription, but also securities underwritten in this market and placed privately with American investors, direct American purchases of foreign property not involving the sale of foreign securities, the acquistion of foreign securities already outstanding and the purchase of foreign issues, both stocks and bonds.

Fourth Auto Traffic Toll Leads That Of Fireworks In This Modern Day

What is the greatest danger of the coming Fourth of July?

The question was asked of a News reporter today, and answered by B. N. Hanlon, Secretary of the New Castle Motor Club.

"The danger is in the automobile. All of this Safe and Sane Fourth of July talks deals only with fireworks in the minds of most people, they do not stop to realize that on this date many people are killed or injured through the use of a vehicle on the highways and in the towns.

Mr. Hanlon stated that many years ago the use of fireworks did cause many accidents, resulting in lock-jaw, blood poisining or some other injury, the result of powder. But in those days the automobile was not extensively used. In the last five years, time have climbed greatly, the car has become the greater menace and covers as extensive an area as ever the use of Fourth of July demonstrations did.

In every city throughout the country legislation is striving to prevent injuries from fireworks.

Statistics show that accidents on the Fouth of July were summed up as fires, deaths from gun-shot wounds, burns, mangled hands, and eyes shot out, etc.

Compare those with the present day when the automobile holds way. The records show automobile crashes, grade crossing deaths, pedestrains killed, and every other form of disaster that can be caused by a car.

It seemed easy to eliminate the dangers of fireworks but will it be easy to do away with the automobile disasters? How can it be done?

Hanlon tells us in a few simple words. "The danger starts when you take your car out of the garage, from that time on the driver must be prepared for any danger. He must be alert at all times, and most of all see that his car is in perfect control which will be assured by inspection before starting. Do not speed, remember that if you have your hands on the wheel you have a chance to guard your life, but those riding with you must place their lives in your hands. It may seem that your running a high speed guards you from danger, but it is not always the one who was to blame for the accident who is killed.

When you open the doors on the morning of the Fourth, look over the tires of the car. You can tell with fair accuracy whether they are in good condition or not. Before going a block from home the brakes may be tested. That is one of the greatest of dangers, a driver not having good brakes can never be sure of himself.

To sum it all up, if every motorist would make a close inspection of his car before starting; drive at a reasonable speed; keep his eyes on the road and his mind on his driving; and watch the other fellow, the loss of life on the Fourth of July would be greatly reduced.

Harmony Route Will Continue Fare Experiment

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, June 28.—The public service commission has approved an extension of the trial period of $1.00 maximum fares on the Harmony and Mars interurban routes.

The new trial period will extend from July 1 to September 30.

According to officials of the railway companies, there had been many inquiries from patrons of the lines as to whether the maximum fares of $1.00 which represent substantial reductions from those previously in force would be continued. The success of the experiment in the initial period of operation prompted the companies' request for an extension of the period.

The sight of nearly a thousand persons kneeling in prayer was seen amid the bustle of one of London's big railway stations the other day. They were pilgrims—including about 200 sick—making the annual journey to Lourdes.

B. & O. Crossing Watchman At Fourth St., Instantly Killed

Alexander Hughes, 74, Is Struck By Light Engine Late Monday

Loses Life In Effort To Save Team From Being Struck

ELLWOOD CITY, June 28.—Alexander Hughes, aged 74 and for the past five years a watchman on the Baltimore & Ohio tracks at Fourth street, was struck and instantly killed Monday afternoon about five o'clock at the crossing.

"Daddy" Hughes, as he was known, had all through his life been a lover of horses, and this characteristic trait brought about his untimely death.

According to eye-witnesses a team of horses pulling a wagon was attempting to cross the track against the watchman's signal. He took the reins, forced them back beyond the tracks, and in stepping out of the way of their hoofs, stepped directly in front of a light engine on the West bound track, and was knocked a distance of about fifty feet. He suffered a fractured skull, crushed chest and broken ankle, death coming instantly.

According to the police, the driver of the team, which inadvertently caused the watchman's death, did not stop, but drove on across the track. They are on the look-out for him, and if a suitable explanation cannot be given by him he will be arrested on a charge of breaking the Humane law.

Mr. Hughes leaves his wife, Mary Ann and several children, residing in Butler county. The couple had been making their home with one daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Boggs on Line avenue.

This afternoon the body was shipped to Mars, Pa., where the funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, eastern standard time, from the home of another daughter Mrs. H. N. Grooms Interment will be made in the Mars cemetery.

M. A. Bickett, local passenger agent refused to commit himself this morning, however, and merely stated that the company enlarged its property holdings in Ellwood City by the purchase.

Will Fix Water Caps In Subway

Dangerous Menace To Lives Of Children To Be Removed By Chief Teater.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 28.—The water caps of the storm sewer, located under the subway, have for some time become loose when there is a storm and heavy floods of water flow into the depression. Monday night Chief Teater warned motorists not to attempt to drive cars through, because if one should stall and the driver get out and attempt to push he might be drawn into the sewer main. Some time ago the Chief caught some little children gleefully wading about, and the danger was extreme, as the caps are pushed sometimes to a distance of three feet from the top of the holes, and any child sinking into one would be lost.

Immediately after this the Chief interviewed two members of Council with the results, that the equipment necessary to fix the caps stationary against all pressure, are on their way and will be adjusted immediately upon their arrival.

Merchants Hear Talk By Harry Wilson On Credit

Harry Hickoks Also Of Pittsburgh Gives Interesting Facts On Thrift Bank.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 28—Before 30 members of the Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting which was conducted last night in the Presbyterian church, Harry A . Wilson for many years credit manager of the Kaufman-Baer company of Pittsburgh, gave a splendid talk on "Credits."

He told interesting facts concerning the advance of credits to customers in a large store and also dealt with the exchange of credit in a broader sense. He praised the credit exchanges for the assitance they give the merchants in having the various rating of people in town. The success of extending credit in a large business according to Mr. Wilson is entirely due to an elaborate system, which handles various phases of credit efficiently and endlessly.

Harry Hickoks also of Pittsburgh, spoke on the value of the Thrift and Loan banks in towns. The operation of such a bank is for the small depositor and will not lend over $300. Most large banks do not care to bother with small loans of $50 or $100 and it is for this need that the Thrift and Loan bank was instituted.

The merchants bureau has been considering tentatively the establishing of such an institution here and are gathering data on it from every possible source. The credit exchange is already established and is flourishing encouragingly.

Log Tells Stirring Story of Record Run

Miller's Detailed Account of First Double Transcontinental Trip in His Chrysler is Thriller

Endless Battle With Elements

Rain, Sleet, Snow, Seas of Mud, Washouts, Impassable Roads Fail to Halt Car and Drivers

A modern saga of heroic adventure is written in the log which has just reached the Chrysler Corporation of L. B. Miller's unprecedented feat in his Chrysler Imperial "80" Phaeton—the first continuous transcontinental round trip ever completed in the United States.

It tells a stirring story of mechanical performance and human skill and endurance, rivalled only by the epoch making flight of Colonel Lindbergh across the Atlantic.

With his traveling companion, Johnnie Wieber, Miller left San Francisco at 10 a. m., Tuesday, May 31. One minute less than a week later, Tuesday, June 7, at 9:59 a. m., he drove his Chrysler into Los Angeles, seven days out of San Francisco via New York, a speedometer distance of 6720 miles.

In one week Miller had driven a distance as great as the average motorist covers in a whole season.

The log is a thrilling narration of swiftly shifting scenes.

From San Francisco, off the Ferry at Oakland, through the miles of orange blossom and rose scented highways of San Joaquin valley, Miller and his Chrysler passed up into the Sierras and across the snow-covered mountain passes into Carson City.

Sweeping out then over the Lincoln Highway, the speeding car dashed through Ely, an hour ahead of schedule, up into the Deer Creek mountains, across Gold Hill and through Salt Lake City under a myriad of stars.

Under the smoothly humming engine slipped the gray ribbon of dust that once was the trail of the pony express as the route led through the lands of the Pawnee Indians and across the great Wyoming plateaus through Cheyenne. With the next night came Nebraska plains and a hurricane of rain and sleet. Through clinging seas of mud, ever cutting down the precious driving average, the car and its driver battled on, crossing the Missouri river at Omaha half an hour ahead of schedule.

Hour after hour, mile after mile, state after state, passed. The killing pace carried them through Iowa and Illinois, Indiana and Ohio and when the tireless drivers reached the Pennsylvania line at East Liverpool they looked proudly at a speedometer that recorded 305 minutes for the last 282 miles, an average of 55.8 miles an hour.

Across Pennsylvania, around the outskirts of Pittsburgh, through the historic Gettysburg battlefield, on to Philadelphia and in New Jersey's maze of traffic the car kept up its terrific pace to Jersey City and the Hudson river ferry to New York. Here Miller checked in at 8:55 p. m., 79 hours and 55 minutes elapsed time from San Francisco, breaking the old one-way transcontinental record by three hours and 17 minutes.

One minute on the New York dock to get time stamps on his card and Miller was back on the ferry headed west, and officially on his way to California. The return trip was a repetition of battling against the elements that were faced going east. From the time the car left the old route to branch south on the Old Trails at Chambersburg a furious downpour of rain beat upon it In Kansas three days precipitation had swollen rivers out of their banks and made roads more like bogs. All through Colorado and down the picturesque old Santa Fe trail into New Mexico the dauntless drivers fought their way until at 7:30 Monday morning they pulled into Albuquerque—2279 miles from New York, 5664 miles since they had left San Francisco six days before. An the worst was yet to come.

Leaving Albuquerque, going south, down along the Rio Grande to Socorro, and then west again up over the Continental Divide and through the Petrified Forests—over roads that would make Daniel Boone's trail through the Kentucky Mountains look like Fifth Avenue. Washouts; detours; almost impassable roads; heart-breaking delays—with man and machine making a great fight against time and nature. At Flagstaff at 7:50 Monday night, then across the Colorado river to Needles and out over the Mohave Desert to Barstow. Then down to San Bernardino and the glorious finish at Los Angeles at 9:59 a. m.—and L. B. Miller and John E. Wieber and the Chrysler Imperial "80" had completed the first continuous trip from the Pacific to the Atlantic and back to the Pacific in one week—a world's record, and a phenomenal exhibition of stamina, endurance and dependability on the part of both men and car. "California, here I am!"

Coon Hunters Importing Coons For This County

Pat Hayden, member of the Lawrence County Coon Hunters Association, states that coons are very scarce in this county as well as in other sections. For this reason the club is collecting coons—tame or wild, for distribution in the county.

As soon as the coons are purchased they are taken somewhere in the county and set free. They are doing this to increase the stock so that the sport of coon hunting can be revived again.

Coons are bought at the place of Pat Hayden, 19 South Diamond alley, this city. A reasonable price is paid for these animals, it is said.

Wife Confesses Part In Robbery

Helps To Convict Husband And Self As Well Of Charges.

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., June 28—Rather than see her husband escape burglary charges of which he was accused, Mrs. Alice Ketler, of Lancaster, today faced a prison sentence after confessing she stood guard outside a coal dealer's office here some time ago while her husband and his accomplice robbed the place of $400.

The woman made her sensational confession after telling police that her husband, William Ketler, had forced her to live a life of crime over a period of several years, and that "sooner than see him free" she made a clean breast of her part, "even though I know it means jail for me, too."

Police held the woman, her husband, and William Schwebel, alleged accomplice, in default of $5,000 bond each. Additional charges of maintaining a gambling resort and of other robberies are expected to be lodged against Ketler, police said.

PENNSYLVANIA TO PLAY BESSEMER WEDNESDAY

Ellwood City Meets Energy

Wampum Plays Independents On Scotland Lane Field

CROTON TO CLASH WITH COAL MINERS

By ED FRITZ.

Hub Hart and Dan Potter, rival managers of Bessemer and Pennsylvania, Lawrence county league teams are all het up, rarin' for the umpires to call "Play Ball" at Bessemer Wednesday evening and fans who travel from this city to witness the tilt will get an eye-full of good baseball and a real line on "Who's Who" insofar as pennant chances are concerned.

Mr. Hart who has caught for several western league teams, the Cubs and is probably the smartest pilot in this neck of the woods may send his sensational Volant hurler, Miller to the mound. Hub thinks a great deal of Miller but Dan Potter refuses to say who he favors to start the game against Bessemer.

The tilt will start at 6 o'clock and Bessemer will welcome all New Castle fans. There is plenty of parking space for automobiles.

While this setto is under way three other games will be in progress at Energy, Scotland Lane and Coaltown. Energy bumped Bessemer for a row and will play Ellwood City at Energy. Wampum gave Bessemer a hard fight last week and will clash with the Independent A. A. at Scotland Lane. Croton, which put a victory over on the Independents Saturday will probably use Emery against the Neshannocks at Coaltown.

The first half of the Lawrence circuit season is practically over and the next few games will decide the winner of the first half.

Postponed Games To Be Played Off By Church Teams

The New Castle Church league season for the first half ends with the games scheduled tonight. For the balance of the week the teams will play postponed games.

The postponed contests were announced today as follows: Thursday night, Croton vs. First Christians, at Lehigh field; Epworth vs. Central Presbyterians, at Colonial field. Friday night: First M. E. vs. First Christians at Lehigh field; Cetral Christians vs. Central Presbyterians at Colonial field. Saturday night: Central Presbyterians vs. Third U. P. at Lehigh field.

Umpires are asked to take notice of these games.

Two Boston Boys

By Feg Murray

Behold two of the bright lights of a dismal ball club; two diamond stars of the first water set in a tawdry and battered piece of old iron. Phil Todt, first baseman, and Ira Flagstead, center-fielder, are two reasons why Bill Carrigan hasn't gone completely cuckoo since he took over the task of managing the lowly Boston Red Sox. These two lads would undoubtedly shine with much greater lustre if they weren't submerged in such a poor background, for, though neither one is a terrific hitter, their spirit and flashy fielding more than makes up for their lack of ability at the bat. And Flagstead, before he was forced to withdraw from the line-up temporarily about June 1, was hitting up around .318, which is nothing to sneeze at.

Phil Todt, twenty-six year old first sacker, gave the baseball statisticians something to look up the other day when he made twenty put-outs and one assist in a game against Washington. For those of you who don't happen to have "The Little Red Book" at hand, I will say that the record number of chances accepted in one game is twenty-two, and is held by seven men. In the American League, Tom Jones, Hal Chase, and Stuffy McInnis hold the record, the first two with twenty-two put-outs, and the last named with twenty-one put-outs and one assist. Todt also pulled off two unassisted double plays, equalling the record.

Ira Flagstead is one of those rare outfielders whose fielding is better than his batting. Ira's average at the plate during the eight years that he has played in the American League is just under .300, but you'll find few who play a better all-around game in center field. He makes an abnormal number of put-outs, is especially good on ground balls, and has a fine arm. His fielding was so good in 1921, when he was a sub, on the Detroit team, that Cobb gave him a try at the the short-stop position.

If these two boys were with a first-class team, you'd hear much more about them than you do. Maybe the Red Sox will get up there yet!

Ann Arbor Loses 8 Team Captains With 1927 Commencement Exercises

ANN ARBOR, Mich. June 28—Eight captains of University of Michigan athletic teams — men who have brought glory and victory to their alma mater—passed from view at the graduating exercises.

They were "Benny" Freedman, "Phil"Northrup, "Eddie" Chambers, William Puckelwartz, Paul Samson, "Steve" Jones, "Hod" Donahoe and "Red" Olian.

Freedman performed on three Michigan football teams, and two of these won the championship of the big ten conference. Chambers led the first undisputed conference championship basketball quintette for Michigan in 1926, and he was a star member of the team for two years previously. Pucklewartz captained a baseball team that won third place in the conference race, while last year he performed creditably at center field on the nine that won the big ten title. Paul Samson won the big ten conference and national inter-collegiate swimming championship in the 220 and 440-yard swim and matreially aided his team in winning both western conference and national titles this year.

Phil Northrup established his reputation by winning the javelin throw in the national intercollegiate in both 1925 and 1926. He holds the national title in this event with a throw of over 207 feet, and in addition, succeeded in winning places in the broad jump and pole vault competition.

Jones' varsity hockey sextette won a tie for the big ten championships this season. While Donahoe's wrestling mates copped second place in the big ten tournament. Olians team won the dual meet championships of the big ten this year.

Taking the places vacated by these leaders of Michigan athletic destinies, "Bennie" Osterbaan, "Buck" Hester, "Stubbie" Loos, William Darnall, Neil Gabler, Alfred Watson, Horace Barton and Frank Harrigan, stars of the 1926-1927 season will attempt to "carry on."

Christians Trim Methodists 8-5

The Central Christians defeated the First Methodists, 8 to 5, in a Church League game last night at the Colonial field. The pitching of Huston and Martin proved too much for the Methodists.

The Christians secured their victory in the first inning by getting to Baker for enough hits to produce seven runs. The Methodists could not solve the delivery of Huston and Martin with any degree of effectiveness.

The batting of Phelps, Cowmeadow and E. Bauman featured the game.

CARDINALS ADVANCE IN NATIONAL LOOP

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 28.—The St. Louis Cardinals can jump to first place today by beating the Pirates again. The world's champions scuttled the Bucs yesterday, 7 to 5, and now trail them by only half a game.

Flint Rhem outpitched a quartet of Pittsburgh hurlers. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, has made 100 hits, more than any other player in the majors.

The Cubs kept in the thick of the pennant fight by treating the Reds to an 11 to 4 shellacking.

In the American league the Yankees downed the Athletics, 6 to 2, and stretched their lead to nine games, Reuther twirled shutout ball until the ninth, while homers by Combs and Lazzeri put the skids under Ehmke.

Although the Red Sox may bore the fans, they still command the interest of the statisticians. The Sox dropped their ninth straight, losing to Washington 9 to 8. Tris Speaker drove in the winning run.

After Ted Lyons had won a 7 to 2 decision over Willis Hudlin, the White Sox lost the second game to Cleveland, 12 to 4. The Indians collected 19 hits in the ninth while Grant, a rookie, subdued the Sox.

Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, has bought an airplane in which he will follow his team around. From the way the Brownies are sinking however, he should have bought a submarine. They lost to the Tigers yesterday, 4 to 2, getting only five hits off Sam Gibson.

Claude Willoghby, of the Phillies surprised the fans and himself by whitewashing the Giants, 6 to 0. In his frantic search for pitchers, John McGraw has recalled Fay Thomas, former California star, from Buffalo; has signed Walt Brown of Brown University, and may chance an experiment to see if there is any cunning left in the ancient soupbone of Bullet Joe Bush.

Difficulties With His Players Cost McGraw Chance To Win Flag

Is Open Fact That McGraw And Few Of His Stars Are On Friendly Terms

McGraw Sorry Now That Frisch And Southworth Were Shipped Away

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, June 28.—In spite of semi-official denials, issued from time to time in the interest of romantic fiction, it was whispered on the backstairs today that all was far from well between John McGraw and certain members of his ball club. The Giants, to date, have experienced some difficulty in winning more games than they lose but one can't say that they have lacked for an inspiring example.

John personally has made a winning average of 1,000. He hasn't lost an argument since the start of the season and they say that most of them have been with his ball players.

Two regulars were mentioned to the writer today as being in contempt of the management. They are Bill Terry and Freddie Lindstrom, members of the so called all-star infield, and the word is that, somehow, they cannot bring themselves to love John for himself alone.

Open Rebellion.

Open rebellion, it seems, has been averted only by the fact that McGraw still is more than a mere name. The man may not inspire affection in those under him but he demands and gets all the respect that is due him. The result, therefore, has been the customary indignation meetings, conducted well out of managerial ear shot.

The point is that McGraw still is a man among men but not exactly a man among gentlemen. The game either has advanced or retrograded, but, either way, it is a different game that the one they followed with spikes and fists back in the days when McGraw handled Donlin, McGann, Bresnhan, Devlin, Gilbert, Mertes, Bowerman, Dahlin and kindred specimens of the rough-drop school, handling them early, often and without provocation. They liked it.

Today, he is the same McGraw, irascible of spirit, intolerant of failure and determined to make the modern ball player like it. He doesn't.

They say he worked on Kent Greenfield until his spirit was broken so badly that the only possible step was to send him away. Years before, he was supposed to have done the same thing to Dave Robertson, a kindly soul, and to have tried without result to break down Charley Herzog, kindly like a bulldog.

More recent and more illuminating examples were furnished by Frank Frisch and Bill Southworth, now playing great ball for the Cardinals, Southworth, a star in his own right in Pittsburgh and Boston, was unable to hit the ground with his hat here and he passed on without a regret on either side. He would be a great man for the Giants today but not for McGraw. They are not firm friends.

Beaver Falls Elks To Play Here Wednesday, Ladies Night At Park

Beaver Falls Elks To Play Only League Game Here This Week

Directors Announce That Ladies Will Be Admitted To Game Free

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

The directors of the New Castle O .and P. league team made a very important announcement today to the effect that ladies will be admitted free to the Beaver Falls Elks-New Castle game her on Wednesday night. The game is scheduled for 6:15 o'clock, daylight savings time.

The game here tomorrow night will be the only league contest for the local field this week. On Saturday afternoon the locals will hop down to Beaver Falls for a return engagement.

Centennial field should ring with plenty of baseball tomorrow night. The league leading Elks have always been poison to the New Castle outfit and now that New Castle has shown such a marked improvement, it is doubtful whether or not the Elks can continue to hang the "Indian" sign on the local aggregation.

tMis will more than likely take the mound for the locals tomorrow night, being opposed by Elvin Hilty or Joe Semler. Both Semler and Hilty have been pitching winning baseball for the Elks and they are anxious to snatch another victory.

The local manager and hurler has lost several tough luck games this year and is about due to break down the barrier. Bryan the peppery little backstop from Toledo will go behind the bat.

New Castle has advanced to sixth place in the league standing through their many recent victories. The first half of the season will be over this week and the locals are anxious to go up a notch or two higher. The Beaver Falls Elks have practically cinched the pennant for the first half, with 17 victories and two defeats.

Things should be interesting in the second half of the season due to the fact that many of the teams have added new strength to their rosters. The Elks gained a 4 to 0 victory on their last appearance here, will they do it again tomorrow night?

CHAMBERLIN AND LEVINE ARE HONORED

American Fliers Given Great Ovation At Warsaw, Poland.

(International News Service)

WARSAW, Poland, June 28.—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, famous American airmen who made a non-stop flight from New York to Saxony, Germany, turn their record breaking monoplane Columbia westward today after a brief visit to the Polish capital.

During their short stay here the Americans were given continuous ovations. The demonstrations of friendship and admiration began when the Columbia landed at Wosotow field late in the afternoon in a rainstorm.

Chamberlin and Levine were greeted by high state officials and last night were guests at a state dinner. The Americans said that in some respects the flight from Marienbad was worse than most of the trip over the Atlantic. They flew through rain and wind and heavy fog, being compelled to rise at times to an altitude of nearly 16,000 feet. A gale of wind buffeted the machine and the rain fell in driving torrents.

The two flyers hope to get as far as Switzerland before night, but weather reports indicate that they are going to have a difficult time making it. If they can reach Switzerland they probably will land at Zurich.

Blue Aces fought a losing battle against the South Side Pirates on the Cascade ball field with 10-3 marking the final score. Despite the one-sided score the game was fast played, with two double plays featuring the game. Hill on the winners mound allowed only four hits. Strong players in the game were Justinen, Bender, Nyman, Hudson and Hill.

A little less than two million tons of sand is used every year in the manufacture of glass in the United States.

Laboratory tests have proved that the 2½ pounds of Buckeye Malt Syrup is superior to 3 pound cans of ordinary malt.

"HOW MUCH will you allow on my used car?"

THIS is a commonly asked question, since most new car sales now involve the trading-in of the purchaser's used car.

Theoretically, you can get almost any allowance you want, if you are willing to buy a new car whose price has been arranged to permit an excessive trade-in offer.

Practically, the largest allowance is not the best deal for you unless the new car has been priced to give you full new car value, without regard to trade-in.

When you trade-in your present car for a new car, remember that after all you are making a purchase—not a sale. So be guided by these basic facts:

1 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

2 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

3 The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

HALL of FAME

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Nominating DORAL PILLING.

Because there is nothing in his name to indicate that he is a javelin thrower.

Because he is, however, boasting the national title in that event by virtue of his victory in the national intercollegiate games in Chicago.

Because he is the first athlete representing the University of Utah to win such an honor.

Because he is more, the first athlete in the Rocky Mountain conference to achieve such fame.

And because, being a sophomore, he hopes to grow up to be quite an athlete by the time he is graduated two years hence.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

When the events of 1927 are chronicled in their entirety, the victory of Grey Lag in one of the ordinary day's races at Aqueduct track probably will be overlooked. On its news value it should be.

But there is written for the real lover of the thoroughbred game in the telling of that race a story that will remain long after the spasmodic achievements of other horses have been forgotten.

Just six years ago this summer Grey Lag, then a three-year-old, was looked upon as one of the greatest horses in the sport.

In the Suburban handicap of that year he went to the post carrying the terrific weight of 135 pounds—and showed his heels to a picked field. That same year he defeated Exterminator, Eternal and John P. Grier. The following year Exterminator and Grey Lag met again and the former won by inches in one of the most thrilling races ever chronicled. The horses fought it out, nose to nose, the entire length of the stretch.

Grey Lag's fragile build cut short his career. While training for the Brooklyn handicap in 1923 he went lame just before the big day. He had won the Metropolitan and Suburban events in that campaign and Sam Hildreth held high hopes of his winning the Brooklyn despite the fact that he would have carried 139 pounds.

After his injury he was retired to the Stud. He had not faced the barrier in a race from that time until led to the post the other day. In the intervening four years Hildreth and his aides had labored patiently but confidently to bring him back to racing form.

So far in June in New Castle marriages are way ahead of divorces. No matter what the conditions or the years, the marriages will always win in this race. More power to 'em.

Some of the new-rich stay that way, and some feel an urge to own some race horses.

Yet the hard part isn't flying over the Atlantic, but surviving what the world does to you later.

NORBECK IS REFUSED SPEECH PRIVILEGE BY OWN STATE SENATE

PIERRE, S. D., June 28.—United States Senator Peter Norbeck was denied the privilege of addressing his own state Senate today in regular session, but talked to the legislators during a special recess taken for the purpose.

Senator George Berry of Clark county, characterizing the United States senator as "a lobbyist" for state park bills, he supports, cast a dissenting vote when unanimous consent was asked for the Congressman's speech.

Immediately after, however, the Senate recessed for 30 minutes and all members remained while Norbeck, a member of the state park board, explained the bills.

RED CROSS HONORS ROGERS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Will Rogers, cowboy, humorist, has been elected to life membership in the American Red Cross in appreciation of his service during the Mississippi flood relief fund campaign, it was announced today. Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross, notified Rogers of his election in a letter sent to his California home.

We have the first picture of democracy in the babel of tongues that stopped work on the Tower.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Siege of Vicksburg—(Continued). by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

PLAN OF THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG, MISS.

GRANT BEGAN THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG WITH ABOUT 40,000 MEN. HOWEVER, IN ANSWER TO HIS APPEALS, REINFORCEMENTS POURED INTO HIS CAMP UNTIL, BEFORE THE SIEGE WAS OVER, HE COULD MUSTER AN ARMY OF NEARLY 75,000. EXPECTING THAT A CONFEDERATE ARMY WOULD BE SENT TO RAISE THE SIEGE, GRANT FORTIFIED THE REAR OF HIS LINES AS STRONGLY AS THEY WERE IN FRONT, AND POSTED A LARGE FORCE OF TROOPS NORTHEAST OF HAYNES' BLUFF TO INTERCEPT JOHNSTON, IF HE SHOULD ADVANCE ON VICKSBURG.

PORTER'S FEDERAL GUNBOAT FLEET WAS GUARDING THE MISSISSIPPI AND ON MAY 27TH MADE AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO SILENCE THE RIVER-BATTERIES OF VICKSBURG. IN THIS ENGAGEMENT THE IRONCLAD "CINCINNATI" WAS RIDDLED AND SUNK.

MEANWHILE GEN. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON WAS GATHERING A FORMIDABLE CONFEDERATE FORCE AT JACKSON AND CANTON AND WATCHING FOR A FAVORABLE OPPORTUNITY TO MARCH TO PEMBERTON'S RESCUE. BUT THE OPPORTUNITY NEVER CAME, AND WHEN JOHNSTON WAS READY TO SET OUT FOR VICKSBURG IT WAS TOO LATE.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 28—Short covering of the speculative leaders in the industrials and specialties, stimulated by the unexpected decline in brokers' borrowings, resulted in moderate advances at the beginning of trading today. Colorado fuel, general railway signal and general motors led the rally, which was also participated in by the rails and coppers. But selling pressure on a broad scale was renewed near the end of the first hour, and the market developed an irregular tone.

Incidental to the month-end settlements, and the shifting of funds in preparation therefor, the call loan rate was marked up to 5 per cent., and the financial district reported with-drawals of funds from the speculative market. Mid-west steel trade surveys reported that June operations will compare favorably with those of the same month last year, though the recent slackening pace was accompanied by price concessions.

New Kind Of Dry Enforcement Being Tried In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The opening guns in a new kind of prohibition enforcement fight, which may spread, are just being fired in Washington.

In fact, Harry N. Douthitt, the dry general, says he intends to spread the campaign all over the country.

If it proves effective in drying up the capital, the test will be a convincing one, for the District of Columbia is a very wet spot on the map, so it would seem natural, in such an event, for drys elsewhere to look favorably on the same method's adoption in their own various localities.

* * * *

Douthitt is an ex-agent of the government's prohibition service and is said to have been a capable one. He retired, however, because he had become convinced that it is simply impractical to provide an official personnel numerically strong and reliable enough to enforce such a law as the Volstead act.

His theory is that unpaid volunteers are essential, both in the interest of great numbers and of honesty and enthusiasm.

Hence Washington's Citizens Service Association for Law and Order, with an initial membership of 5,000, twice that many in prospect in the near future and "a dry agent in every block" as its motto.

* * * *

The associatin is non-political, nonsectarian and pays no salaries, except to a few administrative officials.

Each member is pledged to turn in to headquarters all information he may obtain concerning any citizen who sells, buys, drinks or otherwise handles intoxicants, and to look for this information especially in his own neighborhood, to make it exact and circumstantial.

Lacking a governmental status, the organization's management will undertake no raids or arrests, but will invstigate complaints as far as possible, turn the evidence over to the proper authorities and make it its business to see that they act on it.

Douthitt disagrees with administrators like General Andrews, who advocate concentration on only the larger liquor sources, for his experience is that hootch flows, not in a few great rivers, but in almost innumerable small trickles.

His drw enforcement method is to mop up every drop of it.

He admits that this is an impossible task for police and government agents alone, but with his association's help he believes they can do it. He also recognizes corruption in official ranks, but relies on the association to stamp that out, too.

Oh, yes—he concedes—his system will create ill-feeling, but it will enforce prohibition.

* * *

Harry Douthitt hasn't a national reputation yet, but he promises to have.

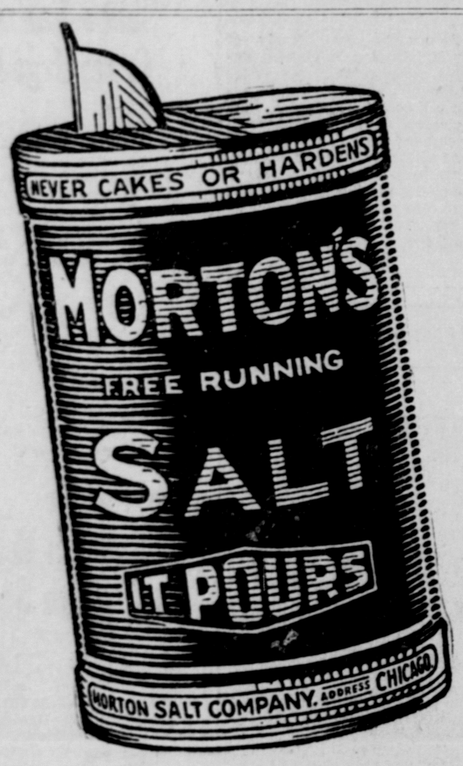

Bootleggerdom already has an eye on him.

A conference—is it necessary to say a confidential one?—of leaders in the industry, for a discussion of his activities, is known positively to have been held in the capital the other night, at which Baltimore, Philadelphia and other nearby cities were represented.

The "trade" isn't necessarily scared thus far, but at least it's watchful.

"Licker members" are said to have been prompt to join the association, contributing liberally to it, as a means of keeping in touch with its work.

"I can't see how they can hurt us", is Douthitt's comment, "and we need their money".
